Committee Met.

The Central Campaign Committee of the Anderson County Campbell Club held an enthusiastic meeting at the office of Campbell & McMeans last evening, and transacted important business. Reports show that Mr. Campbell's home county is as a unit for him. It is predicted that when Anderson county is called in the convention, which county by the way will be the first on the list, the vote will be as nearly solid for Campbell as is possible under the new election law. The committee meets again Wednesday evening, June 27, at the same place.

THE ISRAEL PUTNAM HOME WAS DEDICATED

TODAY AT HORSENECK UNDER AUSPICES OF THE DAUGHTERS OF AMERICAN REVOLUTION.

Special to the Herald.

Greenwich, Conn., June 14.—Under the auspices of the Daughters of the American Revolution and in the presence of a large gathering of notables the Israel Putnam cottage at Horseneck was formally dedicated today as a colonial museum. Governor Roberts, under escort of the famous Putnam Phalanx, was present, as were also other state officials, army officers and representatives of patriotic and historical societies of New York, Boston, Springfield and other points.

The cottage was for a time the headquarters of General Israel Putnam in 1779, and was occupied by him on the famous day when he escaped from the British by riding his horse down a flight of stone steps cut in what is now known as "Put's Hill." The house is thought to be two hundred years old, and records show that it was standing in 1729, and it was not then new. In its early days it was used as an inn, and there seems to be no doubt that General Putnam was an inmate of it on the morning of February 26, 1779, when he made his famous escape from a party of Tyrone's soldiers.
